Smart Decisions • Bright Futures

Providing Safe & Healthy Campuses in Wyoming

Central Wyoming College – October 17-18, 2018

Preamble and Conference Overview:

WACCT President Ernie Over, Central Wyoming College

wednesdayOCTOBER 17

1 p.m. – 3 p.m.
Robert A. Peck Arts Center

Comprehensive Campus Protection Strategies

Moderator: George Eckman, WACCT Education Committee Chairman, Western Wyoming Community College

- Mike Legg – Director of Enterprise Risk Management – Alamo College
- Don Adams – Chief of Police – Alamo College

Alamo College's Environmental Health & Safety (EHS) program provides comprehensive guidelines for the Alamo Colleges. The primary objective of the EHS program is to promote safety and effective loss prevention practices. Making all employees aware of safe work habits through the adoption, implementation, and enforcement of the EHS Plan will ultimately reduce incidents and decrease expenditures. The discussion will also focus on liability issues and Texas recently allowing guns on campus.

3:15 – 5:30 p.m.

Lessons from an Active Shooter FBI Video – Managing Mass Casualty Threats

Umpqua Community College Mass Casualty Event Andrea Henderson, JD

Andrea is a principle at CC Strategists, a consulting firm focused on public policy, trustee education, and advocacy. She brings 18-years' experience working with trustees on public policy issues, both at the national and state level. An attorney by training, her areas of expertise include governance, funding strategies, legislative policy issues and advocacy. She has given presentations on topics such as campus safety & security, the Oregon Promise program, and trustee engagement strategies. Andrea will share her experiences at Umpqua Community College in the immediate aftermath of a mass casualty event. She will share lessons learned along with recommendations for action. Her presentation will also include a specific focus on the role of Trustees -- before, during and after an event along with importance of college policies.
